Headteacher's news:

I have had a busy week with governors' meetings and school improvement work as we continue to wait for the imminent call from Ofsted. We expect to be visited any day soon and when we do, I will be required to inform all parents / carers and will be asking you to contribute your views about the school through the Ofsted Parent View (survey). We were last inspected in 2017 and the last report is here on the website. I strongly believe that the school continues to be at least good and hope that you share these views too.

Y6 have got back into the swing of things (after spending most of last week 'swinging on things') as they continue to work hard in the build up to SATs. Y2 are getting prepared for their assessments too. We have also had workshops (delivered by Jane from SCARF) across the whole school this week on a range of PSHE topics.

Have a lovely bank holiday weekend and happy Eid al-Fitr to our families who are celebrating on Monday and Tuesday.

Jane (from SCARF) supporting our EYFS curriculum in Nursery as the children were taught about dental hygiene. The children were very excited to take home a toothbrush and a tube of toothpaste which had been donated by our local Morrisons store.

This week in assembly... I told the story of 'King Midas and the golden touch' and Miss Tidey talked about having a golden wonder moment (a moment to stop, think and be amazed). Both assemblies related to the importance of valuing our health, our families as well as appreciating the safe world in which we live.

Sports News: Last night after school, the U11 team played their last league game of the season against Rawdon Littlemoor. They were very unlucky to lose 6-5 in a game that saw them dominate the vast majority of the second half. This followed a 5-1 defeat earlier in the week to Ss Peter and Paul. It has been a successful and enjoyable season. Well done to the boys, Mr Spence and Sam.

The Scholastic Book Fair has been a big success and the Y6 Takeover Team has done a brilliant job. At the time of writing, we have taken £1260 of which the school will get 60% commission to buy books for school. Thank you for supporting the book fair and to the Y6 Takeover Team and Miss Bairstow for superb organisation in the weeks preceding and during the event. The book in a box competition was a good addition to the book fair fun and winners were announced in assembly this morning. A sample of the entries are to the left.
